Passion | Empowerment | Respect | Collaboration

Welcome

I am delighted to present the first National Care Group ('NCG') Quality Account to you.

2019/20 was in many ways a transitional year for us as we set about bringing together the many parts of the organisation so we could establish a common purpose and set of values.

The changes we have implemented are now embedded and will start to drive us further forward in future years to improve what we do.

Indeed, we are already very proud to see our Affinity Supported Living service in the North West of England be rated as 'Outstanding' by the Care Quality Commission. Achieving the highest standards possible will be the ambition of all our services in the future.

This report serves only as a snapshot of the work of the many dedicated staff working across NCG and I would again like to thank them for all that they achieved throughout the year.

NCG is driven by a passion to put the individuals it supports at the centre of what it does and to make changes in the way things are done.

We will work tirelessly to innovate, inspire and encourage the potential of those we support and our colleagues.

James Allen,
Chief Executive Officer

An introduction to National Care Group

NCG was created as an organisation which would be focused on delivering high quality community-based support and accommodation for adults with additional and complex needs across the UK.

NCG grew out of a vision to create a new organisation...

Free from restrictive historical and structural boundaries

Approaches service delivery flexibly

Helping us to be regarded as one of the best and most trusted providers in the specialist care sector

Key to achieving this vision we have...

Established a supportive and expert national infrastructure to oversee and support a network of local services

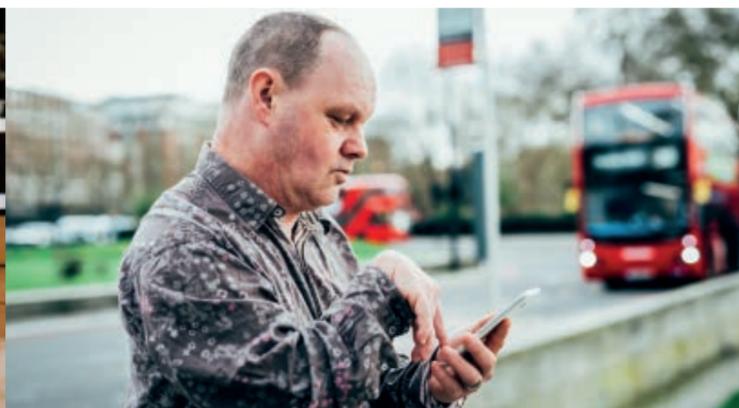

A determination to enable individuals to live more meaningful lives within their community

A commitment to working collaboratively to help commissioning authorities reduce costs by creating more appropriate and cost effective support solutions

An ongoing commitment to invest in our network of services to improve the offering provided

Initially driven by the acquisition of a number of well-established local providers, NCG now supports over 1100 individuals with complex additional needs arising from...

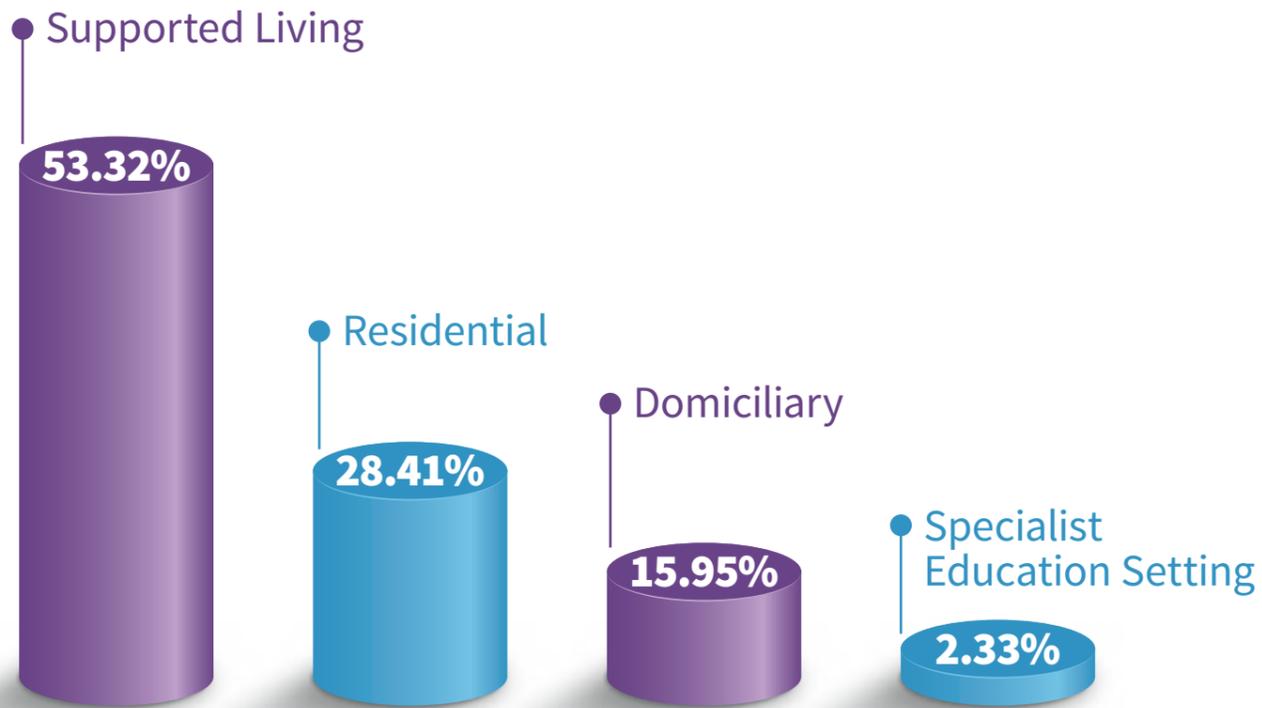

- Learning disabilities
- Mental health
- Autism
- Acquired Brain Injuries

Support is provided in a range of supported living, residential, domiciliary, educational and dayservices across England and Wales.

Settings are either leased through a third-party housing provider or in accommodation owned by NCG itself.

NCG also operates a number of day services and a specialist college supporting adults and 16-18 year olds to fulfil their potential.

As of April 2020

National Care Group Vision, Mission and Values

Vision and Mission

The NCG mission is consistent with that which supported individuals, their families and commissioners will identify.

The vision and mission of NCG reflects an absolute ambition to be the best provider in the UK and in so doing, a passion to support people to maximize their potential.

NCG is committed to enable all those associated with it, to maximise their potential in whatever way they want and at a pace that is relevant to them.

The vision for the future is consistent with that established on formation of the organisation and remains a relevant and clear statement of intent.

Equally the NCG mission is intended to encompass those working with and within it.

Underpinned by a clear set of values the vision and mission will continue to drive NCG into its next phase of development.

Our Vision

To be the best and most trusted care provider in the UK

Our Mission

Support people to maximise their potential in any way we can

National Care Group Values

Our values govern and drive expected behaviours within and across the organisation

The Vision

Shape the culture

Reflect what as an organisation we value

Are the essence of NCG's identity

Our values will continue to drive the way NCG influences performance, and how it will interact and work with its component parts to achieve results.

The collective behaviours of all employees underpin organisational culture which will enable us to fulfill our vision and mission.

Going forward attention will be given to ensuring our values are...

Clearly understood

Demonstrated by everybody across NCG

Aligned with the personal values of our employees

At the heart of everything we do

To manage our growth successfully...

All local services are managed by an NCG Operational Management Structure

All local services are supported by a range of expert professionals experienced in quality, finance, HR, facilities management and customer engagement

All services seek to engage and listen to feedback

All services focused on continuously improving what they do

Communication and engagement is key

We continue to build on the valuable work we have already undertaken across National Care Group and its network of local providers to harmonise the ways in which we engage and communicate with our external and internal audiences.

As this strategy enables us to move closer towards creating a unified National Care Group brand we will assess the benefits of consolidating all providers into a single registration (i.e with CQC, CIW, OFSTED)

Our Priorities for 2020/21

- Improve communication with our stakeholders through the launch of a new website
- Improve communication with our staff by reviewing the NCG Intranet
- Maximise more opportunities to engage with commissioners, individuals, families and loved ones, we support and potential new employees.
- Review use of social media to encourage greater feedback and involvement of services

National Care Group Conference 2020

The Conference set out the ‘NCG Vision’ and also set out the expectations this would place on those involved with it.

The conference was a great opportunity for those who attended to get to know each other, create a network, share experiences and discuss their hopes for the future.

Keynote speakers included all the members of our Executive Team:

James Allen, Chief Executive Officer

James introduced the NCG Corporate Strategy, a road map outlining where we are now and where we want to be.

We would need to be more ambitious, committed and work together in a collaborative way to further unlock potential.

James outlined that there would be some risks that NCG would potentially face if it we did not work collaboratively to deliver its vision and to overcome them. We needed to evidence a culture that focuses on...

Commitment | Potential | Change

Karen Lewis, Chief Operations Officer

Karen’s presentation covered the Respect value and focused on the impact we have on the lives of others.

She talked about the important part leadership played at all levels of the organisation to support the delivery of the ‘NCG Vision’.

She explained the importance of giving individuals a voice and enabling them to unlock their potential to achieve their aspirations.

In relation to financial performance, Karen explained that Investment in 3 key areas would enable more individuals to experience the excellent services NCG provides...

Environment | People | Growth

Mike Cleasby, Quality Director

Mike talked about the NCG value of Passion and how it is a key attribute in driving our quality forward.

Regulatory compliance is a key priority for NCG and Mike spoke about how NCG supports services with a wide number of initiatives including #QualityMatters and the plan to introduce an electronic governance system.

There was also a discussion about when quality and compliance goes wrong and the impact this can have on the individuals we support, staff and the overall organisation.

Chloé Moore, HR Director

Chloé presented the NCG value of Empowerment and spoke about creating the right culture and how this will empower NCG to be the best and most trusted provider of care and support.

She highlighted that the intrinsic link between the behaviours of employees and the impact this has on the social care provided.

The presentation was closed reminding all in attendance to be proud to work for NCG and to each individually do their part to make things better by embedding the NCG values into our day to day work.

Mike Ranson, Commercial Director

Mike began his presentation by explaining how the rapidly changing and challenging, health and social care ‘landscape’ can make what we are all trying to achieve seem more complicated and difficult.

He spoke about how it is important that we recognised people’s expectations and support their Human Rights but should remember to not confuse self-neglect with personal ‘Choice’, or uninformed decision making with ‘Control’.

Mike explained how the strategic partnerships NCG has established and those it continues to build, provide the opportunity for us to grow and develop both our quality and capacity.

David Rowe Bewick, Group Finance Director

David focused on the need for Collaboration.

The presentation emphasised that a sustainable and successful business begins and ends with quality, but NCG cannot grow further if we lose sight of delivering the highest standards of care and support.

David was enthusiastic to share how NCG had been able to not only invest in its properties but also the invaluable staff employed.

This investment was accentuated with the announcement of the NCG Innovation Fund aimed to inspire people to think of new and innovative ways to improve the lives of the individuals we support.

Local Commitment

After the presentations were given, the conference split into regional groups to think about how locally some of the key messages could be implemented.

The groups were asked to think about their potential (what is good about their Region), their commitment (what could be done differently or improved) and what change (what will be different) will look like.

Supporting outcomes through a mix of specialist 'enablement', 'step down', rehabilitation and therapeutic services.

Delivering long term support solutions, ensuring people reach their potential. Whilst enabling them to establish and sustain their presence in the community.

Service demand

We have increased the number of organisations making referrals into NCG services and have begun to focus on providing a pathway to greater control for people who had previously been supported in more restrictive services.

Referrals

We have experienced demand in referrals for individuals moving on from long stay hospital, assessment and treatment, residential schools and colleges.

Acquisitions

We were pleased to welcome two established provider organisations operating within the specialist learning disability and mental health sector to our organisation.

This has further enhanced our ability and resilience in supporting people with complex behaviour including those with a forensic background.

We have responded to individuals who are purchasing their own support through Individual Budgets and Direct Payments, as well as managing a number of Individual Service Funds.
